It has been hectic lately with the displays a fortnight ago we went up to the pioneers Luncheon at Ravenswood where we all enjoyed the day. We set up between the old church and another old building. There was not a lot of space but it worked out ok by setting up as a U shape with our tent in the middle so the people just walked around our tent.

Last Saturday afternoon we drove out to the Woodstock primary school and set up in a good position in the center of the ground. There was a fair bit going on around us with a lot kids enjoying themselves on jumping castles and so forth.

Next Saturday it is off to the Giru show, it is always a good display down there. Followed by a display up at Hervey’s Range on the next day.

Jacko had his little bit of lime light the other day when he claims that while he was unscrewing his four jaw chuck he accidently dropped it on his finger breaking it in three places.

We know better, some of us believe it was done on purpose to gain the sympathy vote.

Every opportunity he would show us and cry about it, he even snuck it in on photo’s, I didn't notice until I had placed the photo on the front page that he had managed to display his finger.

Shed update. We are at a point where we need to have a meeting with the train park. Organising a date when we are all available is the bigger challenge.

Keith.
My old Fairmont is dusted off for another run.

Jacko checks out an old well up behind our display. The deep well was lined by bricks. This was one of the few photos that Jacko did not display his broken finger, I took the photo with out him knowing.
